Delegation at Augusta

by Ann Gilbert

AUGUSTA—Gov. Reed's proposed $165.7 million "current services" general fund budget moved successfully through the Democratic-controlled Appropriations Committee Thursday and received initial approval from the Senate Friday, a month earlier than the same bill last session.

Legislators, closing up their eighth week of work, received the budget which is needed to finance the cost of existing State services for the next two years without debate or even a recorded vote.

State Police To Get Pay Raise

The Appropriations Committee made one significant change from the Governor's recommendation—the removal of $104,000 for a pay raise for State Police, but the money will be restored in the multi-million dollar supplemental budget which is expected to be reported out of committee soon.

The total is $14.7 million dollars more than the same "current services" cost in the 1963-65 biennium.

Other measures completing their course through the Legislature last week and ready for enactment were: U.S. Route 2, from Gil-lead to Houlton, will be named in memory of a World War II Maine infantry division, the 43rd Infantry Division Memorial Highway. The measure, requested by former members of the division which fought in many of the major battles in the Pacific, was enacted in the Senate Friday and signed by the Governor.

Also enacted Friday were: A bill to extend Maine's military law to women, to cover female members of reserve units in the event the reserves are merged into the State National Guard; and, a bill to permit liquor licensees to maintain entrances to their residences from their place of business.

Milk Bill Is In "Hot Water"

The controversial milk price fixing issue, aired last week, has not yet been killed by the Legislature. However, the measure appears to be in "hot water" and many Democrats, in fact, an increasing number, oppose the measure even though it is part of the party's platform.

Rep. Melvin D. Lane, D-Waterville, appeared to the main subject of talk Wednesday, from one end to the other of the third floor corridor at the Capitol Building, after an outburst on the House floor directed at Liquor Enforcement Chief Timothy J. Murphy of Hallowell.

Rep. Lane Makes Violent Charges

Mr. Lane, speaking for his bill to remove the duties of the Liquor Commission's Enforcement Division to the State Police, charged that Mr. Murphy "can't do the job and I think it is up to us Legislators to get rid of him." Mr. Lane's assault was called "character assassination" by Rep. Louis Jalbert, D-Lewiston.

Also, Mr. Lane charged that bootlegging goes on in Waterville seven days a week and that girls 14 to 17 years old are allowed to frequent a licensed place, and that kids anywhere from 12 years old and up can buy beer or liquor any place in the State.

All of these charges occurred in the midst of a debate over which committee should hear the bill. Mr. Lane wanted the bill to go to the State Government Committee. Rep. Jon Lund, R-Augusta, wanted it referred to the Liquor Control Committee and House Majority Floor Leader Emilien Leveque, D-Madawaska, wanted it to go to the Appropriations Committee, as a substantial sum of money would be involved if such a transfer were to occur.

In the end, House members postponed action until this week following a 85-50 vote in favor of Mr. Jalbert's motion to table the bill.

Rep. Richard N. Berry, R-Cape Elizabeth, Friday requested, in the House, that Mr. Lane's remarks be removed from record. There was no debate. However, Rep. Carlton E. Littlefield, R-Hampden, moved that the order be tabled until this week as House Speaker Dana W. Childs, D-Portland, noted that Mr. Lane was not at his seat at the time. The House adopted this motion.

Recommend Sales Tax Exemptions

Nevertheless, several other measures were filed last week, in accordance with routine proceedings. Among these were:

Remove present sales tax exemptions on coal, oil and wood for domestic and hotel heating and cooking; estimated revenue, $390,000 annually; Rep. Mildred F. Wheeler, D-Portland.

Authorize the Department of Health and Welfare to require hospitals, maternity homes and other maternity services to test new-born infants for presence of abnormalities capable of producing mental deficiencies; Rep. Richard J. Dumont, D-Augusta.

Provide funds to promote better marketing conditions for Maine potatoes; Sen. Glenn H. Manuel, D-Littleton.

Major activities in the Senate included: Approval of a bill authorizing the liquor commission to issue identification cards to adults between the ages of 21 and 25, upon request; approval of Transportation Committee report on a redrafted bill which would require a driver's license application to be sent to all licensees

Town Budget Up Slightly

The Budget Committee has recommended reductions of just over $14,000 in the budget requests of the Town Council, with their final total representing only a minor increase in appropriations over a year ago.

The Council had submitted a municipal budget in the amount of $576,776, and by the time the Budget Committee had concluded its work, this figure had been cut down to $562,446. This recommended figure represents an increase of about $7,000 over the appropriations made at the 1964 Town Meeting, and Town Manager Walter Benson said that coupled with the increases for School Administrative District a hike of about four mills could be expected in the tax rate.

The major cutting recommended by the Budget Committee, according to its chairman, Roger R. Randall, is in the account for maintenance, streets, roads and snow removal. The Committee is recommending that the Council's request for $89,570 be reduced by $11,010.

The Committee said it is recommending the request be reduced to the same as the 1964 appropriation.

"It is further recommended," the Committee said, "that with plans for a new technique for tarring and sealcoating that less sweeping will be necessary, and other maintenance items can be reduced as the accelerated street construction program will ease the burden on repairs. We feel that if new street construction monies were allocated for the most needy areas the maintenance budget can be held to last year's appropriation."

The accelerated street construction program referred to is being approved by the Committee. Council is asking that the usual $15,000 asked annually for new streets be doubled to $30,000 so that the program can be stepped up.

The only other major cut recommended by the Budget Committee is in the funds for Urban Renewal. Council had asked for $2,100 but the Committee is recommending $600.

"It was the majority opinion of the Budget Committee that this appropriation could be reduced as the unexpended balance was over $1,700 and if a project is approved, a special town meeting would be necessary for project approval and necessary funds could be raised at that time."

Other cuts proposed by the Committee include $250 from General Government, "in view of unexpended funds in telephone, postage and travel"; $125 in public safety (police); $395 in public works (administration); $200 in the War Memorial fund; $100 in Parks and Recreation administration; $300 in Parks and Recreation maintenance; and $540 in the funds for Chamber of Commerce.

Concerning the $540 cut in Chamber funds, the Committee said, "After much deliberation and investigation it is recommended that the amount of $540 be reduced from the Chamber of Commerce budget and further recommended that we do not pay rental for any State or Federal office."

The particular office in question is that of the Extension Service, for which the Town is now paying their rent of $540 a year, making the payments through the Chamber of Commerce.

Concerning the War Memorial fund, the Committee said, "It is recommended that the contributions to this fund be terminated as of 1964 and an article be inserted in the warrant to create a war memorial with the funds now available."

A new non-profit corporation has been formed to expend these funds, amounting to about $3,400, in developing the historic site at Garrison Hill as a War Memorial.

Figures Listed

Figures that are included in the municipal budget are recommended by the Budget Committee include: $28,655.00 for General Government; $10,500.00 for Assessing; $45,260.00 for Public Safety (Police); $29,355.00 for Public Safety (Fire); $47,135.00 for Health and Welfare and Aid to Dependent Children.

$13,780.00 for Public Works (Administration); $4,810.00 for Highway Garage; $78,560.00 for Maintenance, Streets, Roads and Snow Removal; $4,050.00 for Parking Lots; $3,996.00 for

Vahlsing Says Time Limit On Stream Could Block Beet Plan

By Ann Gilbert

AUGUSTA—The Legislative Natural Resources Committee was told Tuesday by Fred H. Vahlsing Jr., chief of the Easton Development Company, that a set time limit on up-grading the Prestile Stream's rating after it had been lowered would be a serious block and could mean loss of the sugar beet industry.

Bill Approved

The bill to re-classify the Prestile Stream was reported out of committee, approved by both the House and Senate today and signed into law by Governor Reed.

The bi-partisan support of the bill gave it a 121-7 margin in the House and a 28-2 margin in the Senate.

Mr. Vahlsing said although he was willing to have a time limit set, he could guarantee nothing but pledged to "earnestly try to bring the plant to reality regardless."

Hearing Room Packed

The Committee heard the measure to promote the production of sugar beets in the State and re-classifying certain waters in Aroostook County before a room packed with spectators, both for and against re-classification of the Prestile Stream.

Heavy opposition came from sportsmen and several representatives of natural resources groups.

Monda is the last day that this train can be boarded at the station," Mr. Vahlsing cautioned, adding that any divergent thinking will not be beneficial to Maine.

Spent $357,000 Last Year

Mr. Vahlsing said that although he has spent $357,000 in the last year in waste treatment, after reading newspapers articles in the last week on the Prestile Stream issue, he had doubts about undertaking this headache. But after seeing what the people of Maine had already done, he must undertake it he said.

A University of Maine study Saturday on the stream indicated that the stream one-quarter of a mile from the Easton plant fell well within the class of a B-1 stream, a U. of M. spokesman said.

Mr. Vahlsing urged serious consideration of the proposal and said if the decision is positive "no stone will be left unturned to put Maine sugar on tables from Miami to Chicago."

Roach Says Removal Was Plan Of Group

The following statement was prepared for publication in the Pioneer Times by Lawrence W. Roach, in response to an article published on behalf of Council Chairman Kendall Carson on February 18.

Small, Well Organized

Mr. Roach said, "Basically, my removal as assistant assessor is part of an overall plan that has been promoted over the past several years by a small well organized group."

Roach also stated that Mr. Carson was in error when he stated in the February 18 issue of the Pioneer Times that the first interview held with Mr. Hamilton, the new assistant assessor, was "at 1:00 p.m. Saturday, January 16th."

"It actually was 1:00 p.m. January 23. Town Council Chairman Carson admitted his error. This is eight days after I advised Mr. Carson (on January 15) that I would accept the position on Council terms for one year for $5980 including car and on Saturday January 16, returned the signed agreement to Mr. Carson," Mr. Roach said.

Not Be Considered

"At the regular Town Council meeting January 25, it was reported that Mr. Carson stated he preferred I would not be considered a candidate. The Council, however, voted 4 to 3 to consider me, but voted 3 to 4 not to hire me. It voted to hire Mr. Hamilton, a Bangor appraiser, who had not made written application prior to his January 23 interview."

Mr. Hamilton was officially hired at a special Council meeting held at the Town office Feb-

Vahlsing

Program Will Be Adequate
He feels that the program the company has set up will be adequate for waste disposal and said that as long as he was chief of the company, progress would continue. In explaining what sugar beet waste consisted of, Mr. Vahlsing said that initially everything is going to be a problem. But with "good faith" it would work out.

When asked if the Great Northern Sugar Company was prepared to satisfy the problem of the nuisances abatement law, Mr. Vahlsing said simply, "I do not consider in all good faith that the sugar beet industry would create any nuisances whatsoever."

No Time Limit Guarantee
Mr. Vahlsing said the ratings could be boosted as soon as possible, but could not guarantee any positive time limit at the present time. Not even a five-year period.

A proponent, Harold Bryant, executive vice president of the Maine Potato Council, told Committee members that the potato industry needed $60 million a year to meet production costs and that he have only been getting $4 million.

There was only one logical supplemental industry, the sugar beet industry, Mr. Bryant said. This would mean to Aroostook County employment for 200 people, full-time and 100 people part-time, with an annual revenue of $2.5 million. This is the first time in 20 years that we get an industry that ties in with the potato industry.

Rep. Henry Radcliffe of Easton, also speaking for the measure, said that 873 people in Presque Isle are on the Eastern payroll, earning $440,000 a year. The plant belongs to the Eastern Development Company, who lease to Vahlsing and for economic conditions the plant is good.

Over $15,000 Expected From Dawn-Dusk Drive

Over $15,000 is expected to be pledged by Houlton businesses, business people and workers to support Houlton's economic growth effort, during the period of 7:30 a.m. to 6:00 p.m. March 23. This statement was issued by Frank Dunn and Jack Faulkner, co-chairmen of the Houlton Regional Development Corporation and Chamber of Commerce annual membership renewal campaign.

There is every indication, the co-chairmen stated, that the desire to help this concentrated effort to move forward is greater today than when the effort originally started. Each year, including this year, membership is automatically being renewed by members in greater numbers than has been the case in the past.

A most pleasing aspect of this effort is the knowledge, that today there are hundreds of citizens of Houlton and surrounding communities who are working in such plants as the Sportwell Shoe Co., the Houlton International Corporation, Ward Cabin Co. and Morningstar-Paisley, as a direct result of the contribution made in the past.

Houlton's economy not only had the greatest improvement in 1964 over 1963 of any other place in the entire State of Maine but also has shown almost constant economic growth since the organization of this development effort and in spite of several years of a depressed potato economy, the co-chairmen said.

John Cameron of Presque Isle, representing the Sugar Beet Growers Association, said that agriculturally this would mean to the State of Maine 400,000 tons of beets and $6 million annually, for the Aroostook County farmers pockets.

One-Week Extension
If we lose the sugar beet allotment now, it will be gone. The allotment will be revoked by September 1966 if the plant is not started. We have been given a one-week extension, one week to come to a conclusion as to whether Vahlsing builds a plant, and the plant has to be built before Vahlsing wants it.

Sen. Floyd Harding of Presque Isle said there is no answer to the waste problem. This is the only plan which we have to act upon right now, and if this fails, all fail and there will be no sugar beet refinery.

Abundant Rewards
Sen. Harding, who strongly urged consideration, added that if the decision is positive the rewards will be abundant.

Oliver Coulling, superintendent of the Augusta Sanitary District, said he was semi-opposed. The District is all for the sugar beet industry but there is no provision in the proposal for future upgrading and we feel that it is only fair to have a time limit in the matter.

Will Start Precedent
This will start a precedent and soon many communities and municipalities will be facing the same problem as those along the 28-mile Prestle Stream, he said.

E. R. Hitchner, representing the Water Improvement Commission, stated that in the last year the Commission has made recommendations to carry out upgrading in several Maine waters, including the Prestle Stream, at the cost of a large sum of money.

Therefore, he said, we oppose lowering the rating of the streams. However, we do not oppose the industry itself.

Raeburn MacDonald of Augusta, also representing the Water Improvement Commission, said the classification cannot be bent for use in sugar beets. Mars Hill is now in bonded debt and action to provide treatment facilities in other areas with the same problems will appear very unattractive to future Legislatures.

Ineffective Law
Former Senator Ezra J. Briggs of Caribou said that he felt there is little question that the classification of the stream is not now upheld, and has never been, and the job to hold the slow and ineffective law is the duty of this Legislature.

"A lot of people in Aroostook County are not altogether wild about growing sugar beets," Mr. Briggs said. Times are pretty good in Aroostook and prior to the expiration of their license; an unfavorable Transportation Committee report on a bill to establish minimum safety standards on tires; and a favorable Sea and Shore Fisheries Committee report on a bill to establish marine worm licenses with license fees to be used for marine worm research.

Also, the Senate accepted the Agriculture Committee's unanimously favorable report on a bill to control the use of chemical pesticides in this State.

The redrafted measure will provide for the licensing of commercial applicators of the poisons, creation of a state board to control the licenses and make rules, authority to create zones where chemicals can be banned or limited and application of the rules although not the licensing to farmers and the public generally.

Earlier in the week, the Senate had approved a bill which would allow the sale of liquor until 1 a.m., including Sunday morning. First, the Senate voted 31-2 against a motion by Sen. Margaret Sproul, R-Bristol, to send the bill back to the committee and then, voted 22-10 against a tabling motion by Sen. Carlton L. Fallow, D-Houlton.

A bill to eliminate straight ballot voting on Maine elections was tabled, the same day, following the Election Laws Committee report, 7-3, ought-not-to-pass.

House members tabled a proposal to allow Maine banks to sell life insurance, sponsored by Reps. Rodney E. Ross, Jr., R-Bath, and David L. Graham, D-Freeport. The controversial measure would allow maximum life insurance sales of $5,000 over the counter at Maine savings banks. In the loud battle which resulted, opposition came from Rep. Carlton Scott, R-Wilton, and Rep. David B. Benson, R-Southwest Harbor. Upon Rep. Levesque's motion, the measure was tabled until this week.

Tuesday, House members, in their first roll call of the session voted 76-66 for indefinite postponement of a bill to bar minors under 16 from dangerous employment in construction, tree surgery and woods operations.

Postponed indefinitely by a House vote of 101-30 was a bill requiring hunters to wear fluorescent red or orange clothing. This kills the proposal which was reported unfavorably out of the Fish and Game Committee.

The House ended the week by passing an order creating a special bi-partisan House committee to study nursing, boarding and children's home. The bill survived a tabling motion by a vote of 68-52 over the complaints of several solons. The committee will study operations, regulation and licensing of the homes and will have the power to summon witnesses, take testimony and enjoy legislative immunity.

We do have some good years, he added. I am not opposed to the beet industry, likewise thousands of people in Aroostook do not favor lowering the classification of the stream, he said.

Mr. Briggs said it was difficult for him to see how this Legislature could find it within its capacity to lower the classification. He said he had to pay to have his water treated and could see no exception for another man's business.

Referring to the upgrading of the Penobscot River, Mr. Briggs stated he could not see why Legislatures would casually turn around and lower the classification of another river simply because a man comes here and wants to build a plant "that will save the world."

Time Is Important
Rep. James Bishop of Presque Isle, co-sponsor of the bill, said following the hearing, "I think they ought to pass but the important thing is that they do it right away or else we'll lose our allotment."

Rep. John Martin of Eagle Lake said, "I feel we have to contact this piece of legislation for the progress of Aroostook County."

Sen. Elmer Violette of Van Buren felt, "they should go for it for the time being."

Roof Of Hospital Damaged By Fire

A Saturday afternoon fire caused an estimated $1,000 damage to the roof of the Madigan Memorial Hospital. The blaze was quelled in short order by firemen who cut through the roof from the top floor.

Fire Chief Bert Wetmore said he believed the fire must have started from an outside spark. The fire was centered around a cupola at the front of the building that houses the administrative offices of the Hospital.

Miss O'Roak And Millinocket Man Wed At Sherman Mills

SHERMAN MILLS — In a candlelight ceremony February 13 at 4 p.m., at the Washburn Memorial Church, United Church of Christ, Miss Bonita Jean O'Roak, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry O'Roak, became the bride of Herbert James Hunt Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert J. Hunt Sr., of Millinocket. The Rev. Edwin Hoyes-radt Jr., church pastor, read the double ring service.

The church was decorated with baskets of white gladioli and red carnations. Daniel Sanford played wedding music and accompanied Mrs. Carol Margus of Millinocket, who sang "I Love Thee," "I'll Walk Beside Thee" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride given in marriage by her father, was radiant in a floor-length gown of bridal satin in a train, fashioned with a scoop neckline and long pointed sleeves. The ball-shaped skirt was designed with a cummerbund terminating as a bow in back. Her shoulder length veil of nylon illusion was attached to a crown of pearls and crystals. The bride's only ornament was a necklace of pearls, a gift from the bride's groom. She carried a white prayer book with white roses.

Maid of honor was Miss Rayna O'Roak, sister of the bride, wore a gown of cherry red satin brocade, with scoop neckline, elbow length sleeves and a bell skirt with cummerbund. She carried a heart shaped bouquet of red carnations.

The bridesmaids were Miss Gwen O'Roak, sister of the bride, and Miss Christine Violette of Winslow. They wore gowns identical to that of the maid of honor, and carried heart shaped bouquets of red and white carnations. All wore matching headpieces with short veils attached to a band of white satin with tiny red bows.

Richard Savage of Millinocket was best man. Ushers were Frank Fahey and William Fisher, both of Millinocket. Junior usher was Charles O'Roak, brother of the bride.

A reception followed in the church vestry with decorations of white wedding bells and streamers, and baskets of gladioli and carnations. Mrs. Clifton Bagdon made the wedding cake, and after the first slice was cut by the bride and bridegroom, the cake was cut by Mrs. James Trout and served by Mrs. Robert Patterson. Mrs. Merle O'Roak, Mrs. Thurlow Mitchell and Mrs. Eugene Nye also assisted in serving. Mrs. William Lewis dipped punch. Presiding at the gift table were Miss Ruth Walls, Miss Shirley Gagliardi and Mrs. George McLean, all of Millinocket. Mrs. Myron Mitchell circulated the guest book.

For a wedding trip to Connecticut and New York, the bride chose a three piece suit of blue and green knitted wool, with blue accessories and a corsage of yellow roses. The couple are residing at home at 100 Katabdin avenue, Millinocket.

The bride is a graduate of Sherman High School and the Eastern Academy of Beauty Culture, Bangor. She is employed at Beauty Service in Millinocket. The bridegroom is a graduate of Stearns High School, and also attended Ricker College, Houlton. He is employed by Mid-Maine Broadcasting Inc., Millinocket.

Shires Prove No Match For Minutemen As Stearns Romps 73-53 In LL Tourney

Houlton High's basketball team, playing without the services of its captain and big rebounder, Gerald Karnes, was simply no match as they bowed 73-53 to undefeated Stearns High of Millinocket when the two clubs clashed Saturday afternoon in the opening round of the Eastern Maine Double L tournament at the Bangor Municipal Auditorium.

MacDonald And Barnes

Stearns, the defending champion and owners of a 61-game winning streak against Eastern Maine competition, got the outside shooting it needed from Jon MacDonald and the powerful backboard work from Jim Barnes to win easily. And it was an easy win for the Minutemen compared to the two regular season games against Houlton in which they were pressured all the way.

The Shiretowners, a team that has relied on balanced scoring this season, got that Saturday, but in small quantities. Paul Adams was high man with 11 points, with only six of these from the floor. None of the Shiretowners was able to record more than three field goals against Stearns.

Karnes, with a broken thumb and not in uniform, left a big gap offensively and defensively with his absence. He had been injured during the week in informal play at the Rec Center and was forced to miss the most important game of his high school career.

Coach Terry Spurling inserted was to within 11 points, and the biggest margin, 22 points, came just before the final gun.

With his team in no trouble, MacDonald tapered off in the final half. He had tallied 18 points in the first 16 minutes of play, a performance that was almost matched by the 17 points by Barnes in the first half.

Bob Brown, who had only two points in the first half, took over and wound up the night with a total of 17.

Coach Spurling gave all of his team members a generous chance to play during the final minutes, and all but Frank Bell and Dick Gorham entered the scoring column. It was the final high school game for Gorham, Philbrick, Bell, Joe Barlock and Al Putnam, who with "Moose" Karnes comprise the six seniors on the squad.

The afternoon crowd of an estimated 4,500 persons was an excellent one. They had come to see the Houlton-Stearns game and the Bangor-MCI contest that followed.

Ricker Has Perfect 10-0 In Conference

The Ricker College Bulldogs took the Northeast College Conference title this season with a perfect 10-0 record with their closest game being a five-point verdict over the University of New Brunswick at Fredericton.

The Bulldogs' largest margin of victory was over the same team, UNB, on the Ricker campus at the beginning of the season when they rolled to a 109-54 win. Thrice after, the College of the Northeast rolled over the century mark as they downed Washington State Teachers College by a 103-71 score and thumped Fort Kent State Teachers College twice, 109-81 at Fort Kent and 102-69 in Ricker's Putnam Gymnasium.

Individually, freshman, Phil Degnan's 45 points was a one game high for Ricker this season as he scored the output versus Fort Kent on the Bengals' home floor. Sophomore Mike St. Thomas led in scoring with a 19.2 average on 192 points scored.

As a team, the Bulldogs held their opponents to an average of 72.4 points per game while scoring 93.6 a game themselves on their way to the Conference title. Guy Michaud hit on the most foul tosses in a single game with 12 against the University of New Brunswick while Phil Degnan's 20 field goals against Fort Kent was high in that department.

Senior Co-captain Fred Carritte pulled down 20 rebounds at Aroostook State on the 20th of January with the team collecting a total of 63 for seasons high.

Ricker Among Leaders In Shooting Accuracy

The Ricker College Bulldogs remained among the nation's leaders in field goal percentage in official basketball statistics released by the NCAA. The Bulldogs were listed in 20th position with a fantastic percentage of .493 from the floor, the best average ever in the college's history.

The college, even though this was a building year for Gib Chapman's hoopsters, concluded their 22 game schedule with an 18-4 record and first place in the Northeast College Conference with a 10-0 mark.

Miss Zimmer, Piccini Reign Over Annual Ricker Carnival

Ricker College's tenth annual Snow Ball Weekend opened with a Friday afternoon torch-lighting ceremony, closed with a grand ball Saturday evening, saw new college monarchs crowned, witnessed spectacular stage performances, and added a new inscription to the first prize snow sculpture plaque.

Both from Rochester, N.Y., Queen Rita Zimmer and King Mike Piccini, both Seniors and both of Rochester, N.Y., were informally crowned Friday afternoon and formally coronated Saturday evening. The 1965 royalty were selected by student balloting from among eight finalists named earlier in the week.

At their formal coronation at the grand ball they were crowned by retiring Queen Sharon Sponberg of Presque Isle. The new monarchs were attended by a court composed of royalty finalists Freshman Claudette Cannan of Loring AFB, Junior Norma Oakes of Boothbay, Senior Fred Carritte of Norwood, Mass., Sophomore Alison Barker of Presque Isle, Senior Harry Gordon of Stillwater, and Junior Bill Brennan of North Providence.

Winter carnival events got underway Friday afternoon with a parade through downtown Houlton which carried the royalty candidates to the campus, the scene of the traditional lighting of the torch which burns day and night throughout the weekend.

Ricker President C. Worth Howard announced the names of the new monarchs and Queen Sponberg placed their crowns on their heads.
King Piccini, an Economics and Business Administration major, is President of Kappa Beta fraternity and Chairman of the Interfraternity Council. He is President of the Business and Marketing Club, Vice-President of the Newman Club, and vice president of the Ricker chorus.

Piccini was 1965 Chairman of Snow Sculpture and Co-Chairman of the Snow Ball Decorations Committee.
Queen Rita is secretary of the Ski Club and a member of the Social Board, the Review staff, the Young Democrats, and the Chatham Trio. She is a cheerleader and was Chairman of the 1965 Snow Ball Decorations Committee. Rita is a Social Sciences major and plans to enter social welfare work in the Boston area following her June graduation.

Enormous snow sculptures constructed by Ricker's fraternities and women undergraduates decorated the campus. First prize in the snow sculpture competition was awarded to Sigma Delta Phi fraternity for a 30-foot-long octopus lying across an over-turned boat. Last year Sigma Delta Phi took first prize with its depiction of Monstro the whale swallowing Pinocchio.
Erect Mermaid
A mermaid built by Kappa Beta sat on a rock at the corner of Military and High streets. Pi Gamma Delta's King Neptune and Phi Gamma Omicron's Neptune's Castle stood along Military street. A huge snail created by South Hall residents occupied a corner of the quadrangle near the Potter Administration Building. The imposing snow sculptures were multi-colored and ice-glazed.

A Friday evening concert at Putnam Auditorium was performed by The Bitter End Singers, popular Mercury recording stars. A jam session at the Houlton Armory Saturday afternoon was played by the Cobras.

Only The Essentials

The annual municipal budget that will be presented for approval by the voters at the March 15 Town Meeting is perhaps as noteworthy for what it does not include, as for what is included.

The Town Council obviously had no intention of proposing any major capital improvement programs, and pared their requests for tax dollars to the bone. Their paring was so effective that the Budget Committee had to dig and scratch in order to find additional monies that could be eliminated.

Traditionally the final recommendations of the Budget Committee are pretty much what the voters will accept at Town Meeting. Residents place a great deal of confidence in the work on the Budget Committee, and this confidence has been well founded.

This year the Town Council asked for about $576,000.00, and from this the Budget Committee is recommending that only $14,000 be trimmed. The trimming, quite obviously, had already been done by the Council.

Help Save The Allagash

(Daily Kennebec Journal)
America as it appeared to the explorers Lewis and Clark in 1804 was shown to television viewers by the National Broadcasting Company. It was lucky this film was made. The program director explains that within three or four years no such filming will be possible.

Why not?
Why, because the land is being desecrated, the film director explains. Because of the polluted rivers, the fat ribbons of paved highway, the junked auto dumps, the belching smokestacks, the marching electric power lines—the lovely land Lewis and Clark explored beyond the Mississippi lies today scarred and smirched by “progress.”

The State of Maine will claim a natural resource which is utterly unique anywhere east of the Mississippi. This is the wilderness country of the Allagash River Valley.

Naturalists still consider the Allagash country a true wilderness, despite the logging roads that crisscross it, despite the beer cans scattered about its public campsites by canoe-tripping boozers who care not a tinker's dam for anyone who may come along tomorrow or next year.

But we shall sell this unique resource for a mess of pottage if the proponents of “progress” are allowed to have their way. We shall permit the erection of enormous dams that will cause the wilderness to disappear under a man-made lake. We shall see the power lines erected to send hydroelectric energy coursing through miles

Country Flavor

Abandoned Orchard

There is something poignantly appealing about old apple trees. They are gaunt and scraggly. A few tall limbs reach skyward, and in the spring pink and white blossoms with golden hearts open to the sun.

The time-ravaged trees are filled with suckers and stubs of dead branches; some of the big trunks are hollow with age and weather-induced decay. In March sunshine, above the shrunken, granular snow, one can see the typical, blue-gray, almost lavender

The budget includes funds for only essential operations. There is no request for the $50,000 that would be needed for a revaluation of the Town, there is no request for major repairs to the grandstand at Community Park, or to the roof of the hangar at the airport, or for re-locating the Town dump.

The only major increase is for funds for new street construction. The request was increased from $15,000 to $30,000 so that the work schedule can be doubled, and the Budget Committee went along with the request.

Council had given at least some consideration to asking for a major bond issue that would have provided for all of the necessary new street construction to be done at one time, rather than over a period of years as it is now proceeding.

No such request was put in the budget as the Council apparently has taken the position of letting everything but the essentials ride for another year, and hold the taxes down as much as possible right now.

of high-tension wire from northern Maine to Boston. We are not compelled to destroy this last remaining wilderness in the north-eastern United States. But we shall probably let it in the name of “progress.”

We shall hear the arguments about the money that would be brought into Maine by flooding the Allagash for power generation. We shall hear what a “tourist attraction” the vast, man-made lake would be. We shall hear the stupid question: “What good is a wilderness?” And we may accept the mess of pottage.

Ernest Swift, in the January issue of the National Wildlife Federation's Conservation News, writes concerning efforts to save the California Redwoods and the Minnesota Canoe Country—threatened, as is the Allagash, by the “progress” that desecrates.

“These are rare gifts. . . should not be measured in the light of board feet of timber to the acre or the tourist dollar. The many present give-away programs belie the justification for their conversion into dollars. In these two instances let the money-changers stay out of the temple.”

“If I never see them again, I still want to know that they are there and being protected. They should be left as a bench mark of progress, the kind of progress which proves that man for all his short-comings has still retained a sense of nobility.”

Some of us who may never again see the Allagash feel the same way: We want to know that it is “there and being protected.”

endar tinge of the bark on the boles. Just an abandoned orchard, thinks the thoughtless person as he looks at the hillside. But to him who is sensitive to the history of his nation, the orchard on the slope behind the cellar hole tells a meaningful story.

It may have been close to a century ago when a man and his bride set those Nodheads, Northern Spies, Pound Sweets and Blue Pearmaines. They tended the growing trees, and when time was fulfilled there were barrels of good fruit to store in the earth-floored cellar.

Time passed and the young folks moved to cities. The barn and the house burned and only the tall chimney stands, a monument to courage and dreams. Now the old apple trees drowse through the cycling seasons.

In the spring and summer bluebirds and woodpeckers make their homes in hollow limbs, and in the fall the deer come from the woodlands to eat the fallen apples. In the heart of winter, partridges fly from the evergreens and eat the fruit buds.

Goodbye old apple trees. Long years ago men cared for you and were grateful for the generous crops. Boys and girls helped pick the fruit, and laughter and voices sounded on this hillside. Now all is quiet—just an abandoned orchard waiting for the forest to close in. You have played your role well and the blossoms that will give fragrance this spring, are banners that tell a heart-lifting story.

THE EVIL GENIE

Washington Highlights

Eldercare Vs. Medicare

By Ray Vernon

Since a recent poll showed something like 77 per cent of the American people don't know what “Medicare” is, it is appropriate to discuss what is certainly the most controversial piece of legislation now before Congress.

Medicare, pure and simple, is the Administration-backed bill to provide medical assistance to the elderly citizens of our country.

Passage Is Likely

Medicare has been kicking around Congress for a half dozen years but never with enough support to achieve passage. Now, however, with a heavy Democratic majority in both the Senate and House—and bolstered by the strong backing of President Johnson—passage is highly likely this year.

Meanwhile, there has just been introduced another type of health-for-the-aged bill which is backed solidly by the medical profession, through its influential mouthpiece, the American Medical Association. This one has been labeled “Eldercare” and hence the AMA slogan—“Eldercare Offers Better Care Than Medicare.”

From almost every standpoint Eldercare does appear to be a far more sensible approach to the problem than Medicare.

The most notable difference is that Medicare would be extended to any American over 65 years of age, regardless of whether he is a pauper or a millionaire. Eldercare, on the other hand, would be available only to the needy.

So right off one can see which would cost the taxpayers the most.

Medicare would be financed by upping the amount the government takes out of every American's pay check for Social Security.

Eldercare, on the other hand, would be financed by Federal and State funds through existing hospital and surgical insurance programs. It would work this way. When a person reaches 65 the state in which he resides would decide through a simple statement of income whether the person is eligible or ineligible for Eldercare.

The important thing here is that the taxpayer would not be called on to take still another burden to pay for the health needs of the wealthy, the well-to-do and the self-supporting.

Medicare, it must be noted, would hit hardest those least able to pay. The young family man who makes $5,000 a year would pay as much tax under Medicare as, say, a business executive who earns $75,000 a year. This can hardly be regarded as an equitable matter.

Another significant difference in the two bills is that Eldercare would offer far more needed services than Medicare.

Eldercare would provide a wide variety of benefits including physicians' care, surgical and drug costs, hospital and nursing home charges, diagnostic services, X-ray and laboratory fees and other services.

But Medicare benefits would be far more limited, covering only about a quarter of the total yearly health care costs of the average aged person. Medicare would offer 60 days of hospital care or 60 days in a nursing home that has an arrangement with a hospital. But it would not cover physicians' services or surgical charges. Neither would it cover drugs outside the hospital or nursing home, or X-ray or other laboratory services not connected with hospitalization.

Under the Eldercare program, the patient would have free choice of physician, hospital and nursing home. Under Medicare, free choice of hospital or nursing home would be impossible in some instances. For example, the bill provides that only nursing homes “having an arrangement with a hospital” are eligible to be in the program.

The AMA makes this point: “Under the proposed Medicare tax plan, an additional tax burden approaching $35 billion would be placed on the shoulders of today's and tomorrow's younger workers and their employers. The $35 billion is the estimated cost of the limited benefits for today's elderly during the rest of their lives. In other words, Medicare would start off with a $35 billion debt. Many believe it is both inequitable and immoral to saddle the nation's young wage-earners with this huge tax burden when millions of today's elderly can afford to provide for their own care.”

Eldercare goes to the heart of the problem: helping those who need help in financing their health care. That problem would still remain after these individuals had used up the limited benefits offered by Medicare. It makes no sense to levy a new tax and set up another federal bureaucracy when it will not even do the full job.

The arguments strongly in favor of Eldercare notwithstanding it does not appear at this state to have the Congressional support needed to have it enacted instead of Medicare.

Eldercare Offers More

Another significant difference in the two bills is that Eldercare would offer far more needed services than Medicare.

Eldercare would provide a wide variety of benefits including physicians' care, surgical and drug costs, hospital and nursing home charges, diagnostic services, X-ray and laboratory fees and other services.

But Medicare benefits would be far more limited, covering only about a quarter of the total yearly health care costs of the average aged person. Neither would it cover drugs outside the hospital or nursing home, or X-

For example, the bill provides that only nursing homes “having an arrangement with a hospital” are eligible to be in the program.

The Editor's Corner

There was a good representation from Houlton at the basketball tournament in Bangor Saturday afternoon. The crowd at the Auditorium was estimated at 4,500, or near capacity, for the afternoon doubleheader.

The Houlton High band was given the honor of playing “Star Spangled Banner” just prior to the start of the game, and the tournament, and did their usual excellent job.

Houlton and MCI followers were on the same side of the Auditorium, with Stearns and Bangor on the other side. It seemed that everyone but Stearns fans were cheering for a Houlton upset.

Gerald Karnes, captain of the Shireowners team, was sitting on the bench with the team, but in street clothes. Big “Moose” had broken his thumb during the week and was unable to play. He was an unhappy young man. This is his senior year and playing in the tournament had been an important goal.

The only thing that approached being an upset in the opening round of the tourney was the win by Presque Isle over Brewer. Many fans had considered the Wildcats as the better team, even though they were three spots below Brewer in the final point ratings.

Coach “Dint” Lovely now is in a very good position to take his Presque Isle team into the final round. They meet Winslow in the semi-finals. We would be inclined to look for Stearns and Presque Isle in the finals, with the Minutemen coming out as champions.

During the model train races Friday night at the Gentle building, a tot wandered down from the stands with his pull-toy wooden train. He placed the train on the tracks used in the competition and expected it to whiz along as had all of the other trains he had been watching.

The train races again drew a good audience and were filled as usual with excitement and disappointment. An excellent promotion by the B & A and the Rec Department.

Cable TV Worries FCC

Washington, D. C.—Millions of Americans particularly in remote communities enjoy good television reception because their sets are hooked into a community antenna.

There are now at least 1,600 such local systems in operation, serving an estimated 1.6 million homes. These numbers grow every day and in one recent week 20 communities were added to the list.

National Problem

In initial happy Washington, Community Antenna Television is abbreviated to CATV. Now CATV is becoming a major national problem. The Federal Communications Commission is struggling to find an answer, and Congress and the courts are sure to step into the situation eventually.

One FCC official said recently: “How the Commission answers the questions on CATV will determine the nature of television 10 years from now.” This is because CATV is moving into the major cities now—applications are pending for systems in New York City and Philadelphia.

Originally CATV was a boon to everybody—the public, broadcasters, sponsors, and even government officials anxious to make available TV reception in all parts of the nation. In those days CATV served only those in so-called “fringe reception areas.”

An enterprising appliance dealer in Lansford, Pa., began CATV back in 1950. His motive was to make it possible for local residents to receive programs from three Philadelphia stations 90 miles away—and thus be able to sell TV sets.

He built a tall antenna on high ground, strung wires from the tower to local homes, and for an installation charge and a monthly fee brought the Philadelphia stations within range of Lansford sets. The system worked and an industry was born.

Some promoters are reported to have made a fortune out of CATV. Once the system is installed, operating costs are minimal and monthly service charged of $5 to $10 per home add up to the subscriber list lengthens.

The rule-of-thumb in the CATV field is that 2,000 subscribers will put the average system in the black. “Anything above that,” an FCC official told a reporter, is “pure gold.”

These being the economic facts of CATV, it is no surprise that big business has jumped into the field. RKO General, Inc., which owns four regular TV stations, now controls 27 CATV systems.

RKO is seeking to jump deeper into CATV by purchasing a company which owns 37 systems. FCC has balked at this deal and is staging an inquiry. While FCC limits the number of regular TV or radio stations under one ownership, there are no present restrictions on chain operation of CATV.

Recent technological developments have enabled CATV systems to broaden their coverage. It is now possible to bring in stations hundreds of miles away, and offer good reception in a remote area on as many as 10 stations.

One expert predicts that it will be possible to bring to 80 per cent of TV homes 40 different broadcast channels. This would include not only the domestic networks but a variety of educational TV stations, specialized stations broadcasting only news or music or sports—even Moscow and other foreign outlets.

Obviously, any such expansion of CATV would bring grave problems. Today's networks prosper because they enjoy a virtual video monopoly. If there were 37 other choices, network broadcasting as we know it today might not survive.

FCC Controls

Do Not Apply

At present, more than four out of five CATV systems are not subject to FCC jurisdiction. The law does not cover an operation which consists only of picking a signal out of the air and transmitting it by wire. If microwave transmission is used, FCC has jurisdiction. Efforts are being made to give FCC greater authority.

The question of copyright infringement has also been raised and will be settled in the courts. Is it stealing to pick a program off the air and in effect sell it to a set-owner? And what if CATV duplicates a network program also available on a local station? Is this unfair competition in restraint of trade?

CATV is a technical and commercial success, a boon to many viewers, and a big batch of problems to Federal regulators.

Sunday Sermon

Being Renewed
Renewal has become a popular word in the church today. But simply, just what does this word mean? What does it really mean to be renewed? What is the desired change in our life, and church?

Listen to Paul's description: “So we do not lose heart. Though our outer nature is wasting away, our inner nature is being renewed every day.” II Corinthians 4:16.

Renewal is a matter of the inner life. James Reid puts it this way: “The physical strength of the body is gradually running down. It may be expended in futile living, or even poured out in self-indulgence, in which case it is lost. On the other hand, it may be dedicated to God and poured into the channel of His purpose so that the spirit grows day by day in Christ-likeness.”

Renewal is a matter of inward spiritual enrichment that results in a new being in Christ and a new world-order for Christ.

What is the secret of renewal? Hear Paul's prescription: “Learn Christ. . . and be renewed in the spirit of your minds.” Ephesians 4:20-23. To “Learn Christ” means to “be renewed.” Renewal is a continuing process, a constant challenge, our ever-present need to a “new creature in Christ.”

Renewal is not a religious vogue; renewal is our Christian vocation!
